

Pavement Engineering Services

GMU has been offering full-service pavement engineering services for over 2 decades throughout Southern California.

Our services range from pavement evaluation and new construction design to construction observation, testing, and management. GMU offers state of the art design solutions that balance project specific needs and stakeholder costs. In addition, because GMU employs experienced geotechnical, civil, and pavement engineers, our solutions integrate aspects of each discipline resulting in cost-effective designs and minimizing the potential for future problems.
